Important Information About Procedures for Opening a New Account

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, Federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. What this means for me: When I open an account, you will ask for my name, address, date of birth, and other information that will allow you to identify me. You may also ask to see my driver's license or other identifying documents.

Security Interest: Each and every owner of the account(s) shall be jointly and severally liable for any and all losses and damages to the Credit Union occasioned by any owner. Further, each and every owner pledges as collateral for any loss or damage suffered by the Credit Union all funds on deposit (except funds held in IRAs) with the Credit Union along with any other collateral pledged either currently or in the future for any loan, and if the owners have or will have from the Credit Union. This pledge of collateral is meant to secure the payment of all debts and obligations each owner owes to the Credit Union either currently or in the future. However, this cross collateral provision does not apply to any loan secured by any owner’s principle residence or any other real property that an owner now owns or may hereafter acquire. In the event any owner does not repay his/her debt, obligation or loss, all owners authorize the Credit Union to apply, without notice, any and all such shares or deposits to the debt, obligation or loss and/or obtain possession of the collateral, sell same pursuant to applicable law and apply the proceeds to the debt, obligation or loss.

General Pledge or Shares and Deposits: I pledge all paid shares, deposits, and payments thereon, which I now have or hereafter may have with you to the extent of all unpaid balances due you. In case of default, I hereby authorize you to apply any and all such funds to the payment of the unpaid balances. However, I retain full access to any and all shares on deposit not specifically pledged as collateral. No lien or right to impress a lien on shares and deposits shall apply to any of my shares which may be held in an “Individual Retirement Account” (IRA).
